

Government Printing Office

MEMORIAL CONCERT PROVES A SUCCESS

Philharmonic Society at Its Best in Patriotic Airs.

The concert of the Government Printing Office Philharmonic Society on Friday, the noon hour, in commemoration of Memorial Day, was one of the best of the many patriotic celebrations yet held under the auspices of the organization.

The decorations, consisting of the national colors and potted plants and palms, were very pretty and added to the patriotic feature of the entertainment.

The concert was directed by Benjamin A. Lineback, and Mrs. Delphine W. Brown was the accompanist. The following program was rendered: Overture by the orchestra, Thomas A. Connor, leader, and Mrs. Thomas A. Connor, accompanist; "The Silent Tents of Green" (Parks), by the Philharmonic Society; "Consolator," (Steuart), male quartet, Thomas L. Jones, first tenor, Charles W. Bridwell, second tenor, John R. Purvis, baritone, and Benjamin A. Lineback, bass; "As the Sun Went Down" (Parks), solo and chorus by Miss Kate M. Ellis and the Philharmonic Society; "Bays of the Old Brigade" (Parks), male chorus by the Government Printing Office Glee Club; "America" (Smith), by the Philharmonic Society and the audience; original patriotic poem written by H. A. McPike and read by William H. Richardson.

The concert heretofore also have included one or more addresses of a patriotic nature, usually delivered by officials of the office, but this feature was omitted this year to bring the program inside the half hour of the lunch period. The two numbers, the one by the male quartet and the one by the Glee Club, were roundly applauded, but no encores were given for lack of time.

The following composed the membership of the Philharmonic Society: Miss Kate M. Ellis, Miss Nellie Ruckdaeschel, Miss Mary Walsh, Miss Eleanor Burges, Miss Matilda F. Koester, Mrs. Clara B. Hollinger, Miss Katherine Sweeney, Miss Emilie C. Morrell, Miss Minnie Gerstendorn, Mrs. Jennie L. Thornton, Miss Florence S. Harnes, Miss E. E. Johnston, Miss Rosalie McGrath, Thomas L. Jones, John R. Purvis, John O'Hara, J. P. Holland, E. A. Lang, Charles W. Bridwell, J. M. Patterson, W. H. Richardson, Cyrus Cook, U. Jackson, D. N. Klapp, James Montgomery, C. C. Klaway, C. C. Covert, Charles E. Tompkins.

Those who have been engaged in handling bills and laws during many sessions of Congress report the ending of the present session the tamer they have ever seen. Generally, Congress was until the last day or two and then wants everything at once and raises a great howl if it doesn't get it. The present session, however, has died a quiet death and the members of the House and Senate are not disturbed by the end of the session. With the adjournment of the session will come the usual readjustment of the forces and it is expected that the shifts will lose many of its members to the day shifts.

The bars are being gradually let down for the reinstatement of the bookbinders that were let out of the office about a year ago on the grounds of being overpaid. The former employees of the bindery, Fred L. Schick, Thomas Songster, and Edward H. Padden, were reinstated in their old positions the past week.

Henry S. Sutton, of the monotype division, some time, tourist, author, and student of nature and political science, who, a few years ago brought out a popular novel dealing with life in the Congressional set in Washington, has just published a new novel, "Tom Baxer, Bohemian," which is to be published in philosophical sayings, and a book of deep interest.

Mrs. K. B. Throckmorton, a former employee of the gold room of the bindery, returned to Washington Tuesday after a visit of several months to her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Dominic L. Murphy, at Bordeaux, France. She is stopping at the National Hotel.

Miss Anita Collins, chief of the stenographic section, office superintendent of documents, left Friday from office for a few days vacation.

Thomas B. Penick's, examiner bindery, returned to Washington Tuesday, after a vacation of twenty-four days.

At the annual election of officers of the Michigan Society, held the past week, the Government Printing Office captured nearly every office. Jason Waterman, of the proof division, was re-elected president; William L. Agnew, office assistant foreman of printing, second vice president; and Horace V. Blisbee, of the library division, treasurer.

David J. Roberts, foreman of printing, was on the sick list last week.

George A. R. McNeil, of the proof division, has been on the sick list for several days.

Miss May A. Cassidy, assistant file clerk, office superintendent of documents, has been given an absolute appointment, having served the six months probationary period.

Harry R. Christie, assistant foreman of the press division, is taking a few days of his annual leave.

Miss Judith G. Fant, of the mailing section, office superintendent of documents, who is confined to her home by illness, underwent a surgical operation the past week.

Arthur M. Bugden, chief of section, press division, is on a vacation for several days.

Howard V. Youngs, chief of the mailing section, office superintendent of documents, was taken ill at the office on Wednesday. On his way home he was seized with an attack of vertigo as he was about to board a street car, and received painful injuries that required several stitches to close.

Howard V. Mills, stereotypy, foundry division, has resigned his position, and will embark in business at Atlantic City.

Miss Sarah Abbott, of the catalogue section, office superintendent of documents, returned to her desk Monday after an indisposition of a few days.

Mrs. S. A. Lloyd, wife of the Rev. R. R. Lloyd, of Chicago, who has been visiting her brother, Fred L. Davis, of the editorial division, returned to her home on Wednesday last.

George O. Barnes, of the bindery, has been confined to his bed for the past week with a troublesome attack of rheumatism. His wife is also critically ill, a trainee having been brought from Baltimore to be with her.

James Monroe Kreiter, one of the best known show-town printer, contingent, left yesterday for the canal zone, having received an appointment in the printing office at Ancon. He goes at a salary of $150 per month and quarters. His wife will remain in Washington a few weeks before joining him in his new home.

Rush W. Conklin, of the bindery, has been away from the office the past week taking the remainder of his annual leave.

Henry R. Roseberg, of the bindery section, supply division, spent a portion of his leave at Buena Vista the past week fishing.

Miss Stella M. Osborne, gold worker in the bindery, is taking the remainder of her annual leave.

James Ralph, of the supply division, has been on the sick list for the past week.

Charles E. Weston, in charge of the finishing section, bindery, returned to work on Thursday after an illness of three weeks.

William L. Duncan, stenographic section, office superintendent of documents, leaves tomorrow for a week's visit to his home in Boston, Mass.

James L. Primm, office superintendent of documents, returned the past week from a vacation of ten days.

Morris Cohen, bookkeeper, office superintendent of documents, is on leave of absence.

J. F. McGinness and Laurence Costigan, of the press division, have returned from their annual vacations.

Joseph F. Cornish, of the supply division, has returned to office, having arrived recovered from his recent injury.

W. R. Campbell, chief editor, office of superintendent of documents, accompanied by his wife, is spending some time at Atlantic City.

Miss Grace D. Thomas, temporary clerk in the stockkeeping section, office superintendent of documents, resigned her position the past week.

William L. Post, superintendent of documents, returned on Thursday from a vacation and recuperating trip to Virginia, where he spent two months.

A letter from J. H. Rastall, who was formerly employed as a temporary compositor in the first division, states that he is nicely located as instructor in the art conservatory at the school in Oklahoma, having received an appointment to that position about a month ago.

Miss Elissa M. DeVega, office superintendent of documents, left Friday for a trip by sea to Boston.

Thomas F. Hendren, assistant chief of the stock section, office superintendent of documents, leaves tomorrow for a visit of two weeks to home folks in the South.

Arthur Kelly, assistant cashier, office superintendent of documents, accompanied by his family, left last week for a few days' stay at Atlantic City.

Lawrence M. Hurdle, office superintendent of documents, leaves tomorrow for a stay of three weeks.

Frank E. Buckland, of the time clerk section, division of audit, who is the premier tourist of the printing, making an extensive trip abroad every year, is now in New York City and other points on his annual voyage. He is accompanied by his wife, who always makes the trips with him. The itineraries of this year include the Azores, Madeira, Gibraltar, Naples, Sicily, Greece, Palestine, and Constantinople, as well as a portion of Europe. Mr. and Mrs. Buckland have been practically all of the Old World.

Columbia Typographical Union, No. 121, is raising funds to erect a suitable monument to the late Edwin C. Jones, a former foreman in the Government Printing Office, who died last week. The union, which is the local union, who at the time of his death recently was the Assistant Public Printer of the Philippines, Mr. Jones, had signed a service for Columbia Union during the time he held active membership here, being primarily responsible for the raising of funds. By a resolution of the union, subscription papers will be passed in the shop to raise the funds for the monument. Columbia Union at its last meeting also passed resolutions of sympathy for the late Edwin C. Jones, and the International Typographical Union, who recently lost his father by death.

Albert E. Terlinger, of the editorial section, office superintendent of documents, returned to Washington Tuesday, after a few days' practice with the District Attorney, displayed some pretty red memories of the occasion.

Thomas Travis, of the monotype division, returned to his post of duty last week after being on the sick list for several days.

M. A. Bodenhamer, of the proof division, night, has received word that his brother, J. E. Bodenhamer, of Atlanta, has been elected a delegate to the union at the Boston convention of the International Typographical Union. L. A. Smith, a former well known printer on special assignments, was also elected a delegate by the same union.

John M. Johnson, of the proof division, night, has resumed his duties at the office after an illness of several weeks.

V. H. Shaw, sales clerk, office superintendent of documents, is on a vacation for a week.

F. C. Roberts, compositor, made a short business trip to Baltimore, Md., the first part of the week.

George A. Tracy, formerly of the printing and later an employee of the Philippines printer, who has been located in San Francisco, Cal., for several months past, is temporarily editing the Labor Clarion of that city.

Henry Clay Neal, of the bindery, who recently entered the lists of the beneficiaries of the Washington bureau, is in his wedding trip and resumed his duties in the office.

THE GIRL THAT THREW.

A Lyons, France, girl fourteen years old, threw a brickbat at a rat and it was dog and broke its leg. In jumping around in its pain the dog upset an old woman who was carrying home a basket of crockery and broke it to bits.

The girl's mother refused to pay any damages, and she has been sued by both the owner of the dog and by the old woman. She is going to try to show to the satisfaction of the court that a girl that throws brickbats has a right to throw at a rat, and that if old women and dogs get in the way they must take the consequences. The others will probably try to show that no girl ought to be permitted to go any throwing at all, as they are as apt to break a window as to hit the doorstep.—Exchange.

Census Bureau

"TIP," THE MASCOOT, GETS A SHOCK

His Catship Not Contented
With Harmless Sport in the Office.

"Tip," the mascot of the Bureau of the Census, is one of the largest, most muscular and powerful of the cat species, yet he is one of the most playful and gentle. In order to indulge him in his playful moods his friends fitted up a number of spoils, attached to cords, and placed them where they dangle by the side of the chair on which he usually takes his post-prandial naps.

Here, when he awakes, he rolls over on his back, reaches up his forepaw, and hits his first one spoon and then the other, until he has set them all going. Then he occasionally sends a spoon into the air a la Diabolo. When he has indulged himself in "Pussy Cat- Diabolo" to his heart's content, he drops off his perch and seeks other fields of pleasure or profit.

Back of the room which he most generally frequents, is an oblong courtyard that he sometimes visits to prey upon such unwary sparrows as dare to tempt him. The other day, as he was about to take his post-prandial naps, he was startled by a sudden knock on the door, and he felt hungry, he thought to go down into the court and try for a sparrow.

When he reached the window whence the ladder is usually placed, he found that it was moved over to the little cupboard where the electric wires are assembled that keep the clocks and other things in order. So he climbed the ladder, and, finding the door to the case open, he first thrust one paw and then the other in and knocked the little knobs back and forth, causing the wires to jingle, vibrate, and sound like an aeolian harp.

"Tip's" ear was pleased, and he gave the knobs another shaking up, which was so successful that he reached out both forepaws and gathered in an armful of wires. Unfortunately, he made some sort of a combination, or connection that caused his catship and sent him rolling down the steps to the floor. Some of the clocks were half an hour too fast, and others half an hour too slow, and the time of the whole bureau generally demoralized. Some of the clerks were about to be let out a half hour early, others kept in an hour overtime. The electrician was sent for and the trouble was soon unraveled.

The committee on uniform municipal reports of the League of American Municipalities, which met at the New Willard Hotel, yesterday, unanimously adopted a resolution tendering a vote of thanks to Dr. Le Grand Powers, of the Bureau of the Census, "for the able assistance given during the past week to the committee in the preparation of its work."

The committee also paid a high compliment to the work of the bureau by passing a resolution recommending to the League of American Municipalities that the schedules of the Bureau of the Census be adopted as a common basis for municipal reporting.

With the hot rays of the sun beating against his side of the building, and all the clerks on the verge of wilting, the chief clerk of the bureau, who spent last spring and part of the summer in Oklahoma, says that the weather here is yet of a very mild sort, and that he will not need his winter garments for some weeks. It will be recalled that Mr. Mendenhall, who was in Washington from the last spring some Oklahoma stories about it being so hot there that whole fields of popcorn had actually been popped in the shade for a stretch of about three weeks will make things warm.

CORCORAN SCHOOL GIVES EXHIBITION

(Continued from Third Page.)

art instruction given whereby it is possible from such a diversity of ability to so train the pupils that the standard of exhibition work becomes a marked proficiency. This demonstrates the importance of able art training, which so influences the student mind that the expression is that of the school influence, not that of the individual quality of the pupil as separated from the other members of the class.

The Draped Model.

It may be asked if this dominating influence is so strong in the classroom will it continue and follow the pupil throughout life. This may be answered in both a negative and affirmative manner. It is to be hoped that the art instruction will be so firmly implanted that the pupil will unconsciously be guided in the right direction, and that correct drawing and the correct understanding of the elements of a portrait will become such a part of the student's mind that he will not be open each day at the customary hours of the Corcoran Gallery until June 5, inclusive.

A SCHOONER'S LOAD.

The steam schooner, a vessel whose build and habits are peculiar to the Pacific coast, was the subject of "The Greater America," often goes to sea "with her load-line over her hatch," which means that after her hold has been crammed with cargo, a deck-load of lumber is piled half-way up the masts, so that her skipper puts out with the water washing over his main-deck.

Along the harbor front of Seattle runs the story of a passenger who loped down to the wharf in a hurry to get aboard a departing steamer schooner. He balanced himself on the string-piece for an instant, looked down at that little he could see of the water, and hove his grip sack down at the only opening in sight. He was about to have a fall when a longer on the wharf shouted:

"Hi, there! Where do you think you're jumpin' to? That's the smoke! You tossed your baggage down the wharf!"

"What?" gasped the passenger. "I thought it was the hatch."

The story has a flavor of exaggeration, but it may serve to hint that the commerce of the Pacific has ways of its own.—Youth's Companion.

FROM A RECENT NOVEL.

She dropped her eyes; he threw up his head. Her face fell; he ground his teeth. Her heart burned; his heart sank. She grew cold as ice; his brain was on fire. Her heart came up in her throat; his brain came down in his hands. She cast the lie back in his teeth; he swallowed a lump in his throat. She shuddered as with a mortal wound; he grew weak as water. An eye winked at her heart; she grew faint and sick; he was in agony. Plainly she strove for breath; his eyes blazed. She swept from the room; he felt in a heap on the rug. Plainly, after all this, life could never be the same again for either of them.—J. W. Foley, in Success Magazine.

Up some and take all the remaining ice out of nearby streams.

The clerks are somewhat distressed at an opinion rendered by one of the leading physicians of the city, in connection with the present housing quarters are conducive to bad health for the employees of the bureau. The physician states that he considers the sanitary arrangements of the bureau very unsatisfactory, and that this fact is responsible for more sickness in the Census than any other bureau or department in the city. The bureau, however, says, makes it impossible to ventilate the room without having the draft on the employees, which leads to colds and other ailments.

A new adding and tabulating machine is being given a trial in the bureau to determine its adaptability to the work of the office with a view of introducing it for use in the thirteenth census. The machine is being operated by Bowen Crandall, who is producing some excellent results. The machine does a variety of things automatically, and is considered a mechanical wonder.

A number of the former clerks of the bureau who were transferred to the Bureau of Labor for field work in connection with the special investigation on woman and child labor, have completed their tour of duty in the city, and are in the city the past week receiving new assignments for duty in the North.

Chief Clerk William S. Rossett will leave tomorrow for Boston to transact some official business for the bureau. Rossett will take a short vacation, which he will spend at Great Averill Pond in northern Vermont, fishing and resting.

Dr. C. L. Wilbur, chief statistician for the Census, who is on a vacation, will be back the past week for a short business trip. Mrs. Adelaide C. Hersey, of the agriculture division, left Washington Tuesday for her old home at Warden, Idaho, where she was called by the serious illness of her mother.

Henry A. Cox, of the division of disabilities, who is on a vacation, received an increase in salary of $100 per annum, has been detailed to the lighthouse board for temporary duty.

Paul Sloan, of the manufactures division, who has been spending some time at his home in West Virginia because of the illness of his father, has returned to duty, the latter having grown better.

Frank Woodward, of the agriculture division, who has been on the sick list several weeks, was able to resume his duties on Monday.

Lewis R. Stealy, of the chief clerk's division, who left last week for a visit at his old home in Kentucky, sends word that he has been ill since arriving there.

William J. Barrows, of the agriculture division, has resumed his duties after an illness of five weeks.

Adam A. Wilhelm, of the manufactures division, who has been doing field work on the electrical investigation in southern California, has been transferred to Oregon.

Hugh B. Meloy, of the manufactures division, who is on a vacation, has been transferred from Ohio to Indiana.

J. N. Bell, who was transferred from the War Department, and later detailed to Havana, Cuba, where he is employed as a statistician, has been detailed to a visit to his friends in the bureau Wednesday. Mr. Bell is in the city for a few days, having brought his family to spend the summer in Washington.

James E. Payne, of the manufactures division, has been transferred from Nebraska to South Dakota, where he will continue to work on the electrical investigation.

Horace Ward, of the chief clerk's division, who is on a vacation, has been detailed to the board of awards for the department, has completed the work and assumed his regular hours at the bureau.

Edward B. White, of the manufactures division, who is on a vacation, has been detailed to the board of awards for the department, has completed the work and assumed his regular hours at the bureau.

George V. Newton, who is working on the electrical investigation, has been transferred from Missouri to Nebraska.

similar character. The work of this class is serious and dignified. In some instances the work has been attempted in a broad handling, in others in a technique of a smoother quality.

Whether broadly or smoothly the examples do not as a rule show a tendency to harshness of line, and in the flower studies are painted with a skill and an observance of the harmony of color that speaks well for the maturity of judgment of the pupil. In this as in some other work there is a feeling of restraint which will undoubtedly disappear as the pupils are given a freer hand in the study of new problems and faces conditions in which the wise counsel of the school room is wanting.

The exhibition will be open each day at the customary hours of the Corcoran Gallery until June 5, inclusive.

A SCHOONER'S LOAD.

The steam schooner, a vessel whose build and habits are peculiar to the Pacific coast, was the subject of "The Greater America," often goes to sea "with her load-line over her hatch," which means that after her hold has been crammed with cargo, a deck-load of lumber is piled half-way up the masts, so that her skipper puts out with the water washing over his main-deck.

Along the harbor front of Seattle runs the story of a passenger who loped down to the wharf in a hurry to get aboard a departing steamer schooner. He balanced himself on the string-piece for an instant, looked down at that little he could see of the water, and hove his grip sack down at the only opening in sight. He was about to have a fall when a longer on the wharf shouted:

"Hi, there! Where do you think you're jumpin' to? That's the smoke! You tossed your baggage down the wharf!"

"What?" gasped the passenger. "I thought it was the hatch."

The story has a flavor of exaggeration, but it may serve to hint that the commerce of the Pacific has ways of its own.—Youth's Companion.

FROM A RECENT NOVEL.

She dropped her eyes; he threw up his head. Her face fell; he ground his teeth. Her heart burned; his heart sank. She grew cold as ice; his brain was on fire. Her heart came up in her throat; his brain came down in his hands. She cast the lie back in his teeth; he swallowed a lump in his throat. She shuddered as with a mortal wound; he grew weak as water. An eye winked at her heart; she grew faint and sick; he was in agony. Plainly she strove for breath; his eyes blazed. She swept from the room; he felt in a heap on the rug. Plainly, after all this, life could never be the same again for either of them.—J. W. Foley, in Success Magazine.

Neighborhood News

Anacostia

MEMORIAL SERVICES
AT ST. ELIZABETH'S

Children of St. Theresa's
Church Take First Communion.

Decoration Day exercises were held at St. Elizabeth's yesterday at 10:30 o'clock under the auspices of John A. Logan Post, G. A. R. A. B. Frisbie, commander, assisted by Lincoln Camp, Sons of Veterans, Boys of Woodcraft, and Junior Order of Mothers. The exercises at the hour named assembly were sounded by the bugler, opening the program which was as follows: Selection, "Shall We Meet," St. Elizabeth's Band; invocation, chaplain; reading of orders, James H. Dohy; selection, "Only a Little Way," choir; opening remarks, Commander A. B. Frisbie; selection, "Soldiers Chorus," children; address, Dr. William A. White, superintendent of St. Elizabeth's Hospital; reading of President Lincoln's Gettysburg address, D. C. Fountain; poem, "Cover Them With Flowers," Earl Taylor; selection, "Lead, Kindly Light," band; oration, James E. Wilson, Assistant Secretary of the Interior; selection, "Tenting, T. night," children's chorus; address, B. J. Northcott, S. V.; cornet solo, Eddie McKee; selection, "After," choir; selection, drum corps; benediction, the Rev. N. H. Miller; taps; bugler; salute, Boys' Brigade.

Committees in Charge.

The committees in charge were: Executive, A. B. Frisbie, chairman; Thomas J. Putnam, F. T. E. Johnson and B. P. Entrich. Music, E. T. Davis, chairman; Miss Carrie Barrett, Mrs. Clara O. Bayless, Miss Mary Edwards, Miss Anna T. Mulvaney, Miss Nellie Edwards, George G. Jones, Daniel Smithson, and E. Kinsella; organist, Mrs. Lizzie Nelson. Floral committee, Mrs. Emily A. Frisbie, president of John A. Logan Relief Corps, chairman; Mrs. Mary A. Simpson, Mrs. Margaret B. Tewe, Mrs. Ella D. McLaughlin, Mrs. Mary E. Crawford, Mrs. Eliza P. Watson, Mrs. Emma Williams, Mrs. Mary A. Robinson, Mrs. Annie A. Steadman, Mrs. Edna E. Moore, Mrs. Annie A. Peck, Mrs. Blitha Davidson, Mrs. Elizabeth Kube, Mrs. Mary E. Davenport, Mrs. Jane McLean, Mrs. Julia A. Dohy, Mrs. Carrie King, Mrs. Amanda Hackett, Mrs. Nina R. Smith, Mrs. Martha V. Coleman, Mrs. Annie Orem, Mrs. B. Helen Leach, Mrs. Lizzie Cole, Mrs. Cummins, Mrs. Annie Anderson, Mrs. Florence O'Brien, Mrs. Mary E. Quade, Mrs. Kate Mackernard, Miss Edith Tew, Miss Jesse Fisher, Miss Nora Edna Williams, and Miss Eno.

Special Mass Held.

In St. Theresa's Church, Washington and Fillmore streets, a large number of the children of the parish took the first communion last Sunday morning at the 6:30 o'clock mass. Immediately following a special mass was celebrated for the members of the Council, No. 37, Knights of Columbus, the entire council receiving communion. The Rev. Charles M. Edwards, chaplain of the chapter, preached the sermon. The members adjourned to the basement of the church and were served with breakfast by the young ladies of the parish.

The Rev. Father Regan, of the Apostolic Mission House, Brookland, delivered the sermon and sang the high mass at 10:30 o'clock. The annual mass procession of the children, in which about 50 participated, took place in the afternoon at 4 o'clock, moving around the square south of the church. Miss Adeline Wadsworth was the queen, attended by Miss Brauman and Miss Wathen as maids of honor.

Dog Bites Child.

The police have been called upon recently to search for a certain supposed dog. Richard Berry, of Stanton road, reported that a dog had attacked and bitten his two grandchildren, Frank Young, fourteen years old, and Edith Young, nine years old. Policeman T. A. Lusby shot and killed the animal and sent the body to the Bureau of Animal Industry for examination.

The plan to erect a parsonage and assembly hall for the Anacostia Baptist Church has taken definite shape. The members of the congregation were told of the plans at the services last Sunday when a letter was read from Rev. V. G. King, of the Men's Club, setting forth the necessity for such a building. The plan was supplemented by the marks of a similar character by Rev. James R. Edwards, the pastor. The congregation was asked to render financial assistance and a committee was named to ascertain what members will be willing to subscribe for bonds, each for $10.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Garden Memorial Church has accepted an invitation from the society of the Presbyterian Church in Riverdale, Md., to take part in the exercises to be held there soon.

The Rev. G. M. Cummings, pastor of Garden Church, who is attending the general assembly in Kansas City, Mo., has been appointed chairman of the committee of systematic benevolence in the church.

The request of the Anacostia Citizens' Association that the report of the committee of the organization on the Anacostia river be printed as a public document, has been complied with by the Senate.

The advisory board of the Men's Club of the Anacostia Methodist Episcopal Church held two meetings last week to prepare a program for the summer. The organization appointed committees to perfect plans for an athletic meet, Decoration Day.

Special Service This Evening.

The members of John A. Logan Post, G. A. R., and of the Woman's Relief Corps will meet at the Anacostia Masonic Hall at 7:30 o'clock this evening and proceed in a body to the Anacostia Methodist Episcopal Church, where the Rev. J. A. J. Williamson, of Nichols avenue, is visiting relatives and friends in Baltimore.

A lawn fete was held on the lawns of the parish hall of the Emmanuel P. E. Church, on Washington street, last evening for the benefit of the choir.

Rockville

FARQUHAR WEDDING
A PLEASING EVENT

Two Hundred Guests Witness Quaint Friends' Ceremony.

ROCKVILLE, Md., May 30.—Miss Martha Payne, of Indianapolis, Ind., who was the guest for a fortnight of Miss Maude Heagy, of this place, has returned to her home.

The Morning Card Club of Rockville held its last meeting at the home of Mrs. Robert N. Bayles, the full membership being present. Miss Louise Edmonston won first prize, and Mrs. Thomas Anderson second.

Two hundred guests were present at the wedding on Wednesday evening of Miss Catherine B. Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas, of Edgemoor, and Malcolm Farquhar, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger B. Farquhar. The ceremony, which was that of the Society of Friends, was performed on the lawn, at the home of the bride's parents, and was simple and impressive. Joseph T. Moore reading the certificates in accordance with the Quaker custom. The couple left the same evening for a trip to Capon Springs.

The wedding of Miss Mary C. Bentley and Francis Pole Robinson is announced to take place June 20, at Bloomfield, the old Bentley homestead.

Miss Ellen Farquhar, of Olney district, has returned from the peace conference at Lake Mohonk.

The engagement of Miss Ethel Thompson, of Baltimore, and William L. Brooke, a native of this county, now engaged in business in Oregon, has just been announced.

Mr. and Mrs.